

WILL PENDING SINCE YEAR OF 1888 PROBATED

J. W. Foster Is Named by Court to Act in Estate of Amaziah Titterington.

Letters of administration have been granted by Judge F. J. Lande of the probate court to J. W. Foster in the estate of Amaziah Titterington, one that has been pending since the year of 1888. The estate could not be closed on account of the widow's dower and homestead rights. Recently Mrs. Louisa Titterington died and petition for letters of administration were filed by J. W. Foster.

On Sept. 8, 1888, letters of administration in the estate were granted to James W. Titterington, to be exercised upon the death of the widow. James W. Titterington, who was a son of Amaziah, died in 1907.

The estate consists of farm lands below Edgington. Sons and daughters are the beneficiaries.

Will of Sarah Johnston.

The will of Sarah Johnston, who died recently, has been admitted to probate. She leaves all real and personal property to her sister, Emma Johnston. William G. Johnston is named as executor.

HUARD LECTURE AT BURTIS TONIGHT

The Baroness Frances Wilson Huard, appearing tonight at the Burtis opera house under the auspices of the American Committee of Devastated France, will depict the awfulness confronting the French people in the early days of the world war. She will tell of the horrors of the flight of the peasant, bourgeois, and aristocrat in the same fearful rush to safety from the hurricane advance of the Uhlans. The happy return of the same people, flushed with victory, but each family group saddened and made smaller by one, two or three loved ones martyr to the homecoming, offers but a meagre tale of happiness so lost in the long narration of the desolation and devastation to which they returned. It is this which the baroness will depict to her audience this evening.

The intimacy with which Baroness Huard shared the sorrows and bore the hardship of the French brings the same intimacy into her tale. Her own home, the Huard chateau at Villiers, was occupied by von Kluck in 1914. Huge red letters defacing the doors, discarded underlinen and official papers bearing the official seal bear witness that the destruction of personal property should be credited to him. Two or three hundred pots of red jam were poured down into the plane and she tells many other such incidents of the wanton, needless destruction to which the people of France returned victorious, yet practically defeated. Her heart is with the people in whose behalf she is appearing and her ready appreciation of their condition is bound to rouse the somnolent sympathy of Americans whose good fortune it is to hear her.

Presents Picture.

The baroness Huard will likewise present what has been acclaimed as the greatest of war pictures, "The Heritage of France," acted by the people amid the desolation which is basis for her appeal.

The tri-city branch of the American committee of For Devastated France is composed of: Judge J. W. Bollinger, Davenport, chairman; Horace G. Roberts, Davenport, vice chairman; T. A. Murphy, Rock Island, vice chairman; Charles Skinner, Moline, vice chairman; Charles Shuler, Davenport, treasurer; Edward K. Putnam, Davenport, secretary.
